DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 13 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takamoto et al., US Patent 6249377.

3. Takamoto teaches a display device comprising a display 6 which is flexible and which may be present in both a first position (see figure 11) and a second position (see figure 1). In the first position the display is at least largely rolled up around a shaft 12 in a housing 2 and in which in the second position at least part of the display is visible. Takamoto also teaches extension structure 8 to facilitate extending the display to the second position, wherein the extension structure 8 comprises means 22 for generating an extending force acting in an opposite direction with respect to a force (biasing fore of the spring mounted in the spring biased roll 12) driving the display towards the first position upon a transition towards the second position. The extension structure is further arranged to counteract a tendency of the display to return by itself from the second position to the first position by balancing, in the second position, the extending force and the force driving a display towards the first position when in the second position.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2-4, 6, 8-10 and 14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
